Virginia's Golf Destination of Choice

Many golfers are making the Greater Fredericksburg Region of Virginia their first choice. The top five reasons are:

- 1 More for you money — golf, accommodations and even the 19th hole.
- 2 Less time on the road means more time on the course or 19th hole!
- 3 Fredericksburg offers the same golf conditions, challenges and quality that you expect at popular southern destinations.
- 4 Less congestion and a better quality of play in Fredericksburg as compared to other destinations.
- 5 Southern hospitality starts here! We know how to treat our visitors.

CAMERON HILLS GOLF LINKS

Step on to the demanding and meticulously maintained Cameron Hills Golf Links, the premier course of the Northern Neck of Virginia, just 30 minutes east of Fredericksburg. Designed so that no fairway is adjacent to another, this 18-hole championship course allows all golfers to enjoy the rolling beauty and challenge of a true links style course. On-site driving range, practice green and club house complete your experience. Try one of three “Chesapeake Bay” nearby restaurants to quench a desire for Maryland crabs or waterfront dining for a unique end of your golf day.

CANNON RIDGE GOLF CLUB

Spread out over 200 acres of Virginia countryside, Cannon Ridge Golf Club is a magnificent test of golf. Berman and Weed used L-93 Bent grass throughout the greens, tee boxes and fairways to cut through the rolling farmland, bluffs, ravines and woodland terrain. This par 71 layout measures just under 7,000 yards from the championship tees and has been ranked the second toughest public course in Virginia. Five sets of tee boxes make the courses playable for golfers of all skill levels.

Take the test of golfing skill at the aptly named Gauntlet Golf Club. Opened in 1995, this par 72, 6,900-yard, P. B. Dye championship layout features lush zoysia fairways and smooth, consistent, bent grass greens. The Gauntlet has made its mark, receiving recognitions such as Golf Digest's "Top 10 New Courses to Play in the US" and Washington Golf Monthly's "100 Best Courses to Play in the Mid-Atlantic." The Gauntlet aims to please the most demanding players with 4 sets of tees.

LEE'S HILL GOLF CLUB

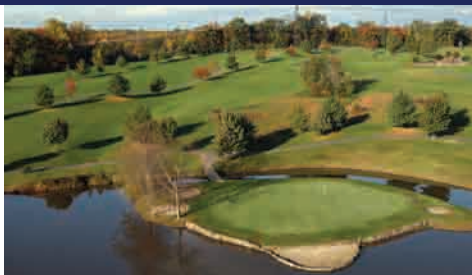

Lee's Hill, a awarded the 2009 Best of Fredericksburg Award in the Public Golf Courses category by the U.S. Commerce Association (USCA), is a traditional golf course and the perfect way to begin your golf vacation challenge. In late 2007 the course benefited from new owners, and the results of many renovations and improvements show! Golfers can test their skills as they wind their way through tangled woods and authentic Civil War trenches. Lee's Hill offers a complete practice facility, a fully stocked pro shop, and a full-service clubhouse with a grill and lounge.

MEADOWS FARMS GOLF COURSE

Meadows Farms is a 'must-play' because of its unique layout and infamous golf cart girls. This course is "...a cornucopia of the unconventional" as described by Golf Digest January 2009 and features: the longest hole in the U.S. (841-yard par 6); the waterfall hole that requires a carryover drive to land on the green sitting atop of a 45-foot tall waterfall. Owner Bill Meadows "...wanted the course to be so unusual that every hole would be like starting a new course." Three sets of 9-holes allow golfers to play all day!
